THE TRAGEDIES OF CHILDHOOD.

When you were a child were you ever so miserable over an unjust punishment or an unmerited rebuke that you hated everyone and everything? Do you remember that time when you were sent to bed without your supper for breaking the glass vase, and when you cried and wished you dared run away?

Do you remember the time you, in your innocent childish grief over the fact that no one loved you, plotted to run away where no one would ever see you again? Do you remember the night you cried yourself into a fever and how you tossed your small arms and sobbed, "I wish I were dead, dead," Do you remember? Then you know some thing of the tragedies of childhood.

Someone heard that wicked wish and said: "God doesn't like naughty boys and girls." The hatred grew and you sobbed, "I do wish it! I do, I do!" and someone then said: "Silly-go to sleep." And that is about as much thought as is usually given to these intense sufferings of our little people.

Some time ago, in one of the northern states, a man is said to have held matches to the fingers of his little boy and girl. The outrage was to teach them not to play with fire. Do you think that those little ones believed that their father loved them? In their terror, can you not believe that they might have wished that they, too, were "dead, dead?"

But there are other and lesser abuses which are tragedies to the children that we pretend to love and whom we are bound by moral and civic law to protect. There are the sharp words, the blows the carelessly administered punishments And, worse than any of these, there is the threat which unwise fathers and mothers hold over their children.

Sometime ago the editor remember reading of a pretty little girl running away from her home because her mother threatened to punish her if she did not "do better" in school. The frenzied parents searched for her all day and finally only found her with the aid of the po lice. The threatened punishment was a tragedy to the little girl. Rather than face punishment she ran away. Who can blame her? Can you, you who re member the tragedies of your own child-

What if the little girl did fail to pass? Are the things learned from books so essential? Has it ever occurred to you that fathers and mothers often cruelly precociousness, as a gratification to their ter. The water will still gurgle. own pride, their own ambitions? A child should be kept in school. A child should be taught the lessons in books. But should not a child also be taught the love lessons of home life?

Tragedies-and there are many more than we have mentioned - lessen a child's ability to learn from books. A those heart struggles, those tragedies of Bryan has not done anything in the way your own childhood. When about to punish or threaten your child, recall tacks on Mr. Stockton and Mr. Blount.

In the old days, when the editor was young, the water wagon was loaded at this season of the year. Later in the season most of the occupants fell off and -got loaded. May be different now, Senator Lewis W. Zim of the St. Au gustine Meteor is seriously contemplat ing the starting of a daily morning paper at that place. In entering the daily field of a small city the editor can never know his finish until after he has made a start Seems strange, but it's a fact. But it Editor Zim concludes to make a start, we'll help all we can to see that he continues to a glorious finish-we'll exchange with him.

The seveny-ninth General Assembly of Ohio opened on Monday with the democrats controlling both branches and Judson Harmon, democratic governor, to pass upon the work. It is 20 years since the democrats had the "whole thing." They have a majority of 26 on joint ballot, and will elect a democrat to the United States Senate to succeed Senator Chas. Dick. It is not thought they will do any worse than their predecessors the republicans.

Prof. Walter F. Wilcox of Cornell University has it all figured out. He says that there will be no babies born in this country after A. D. 2015. This mathematical conclusion was based on the present race suicide statistics in the United States. There is nothing like a college education to teach a man to "figger." And a college education can so netimes make more kinds of a dern fool of a man than anything else. Prof. Wilcox made his startling announcement at a meeting of the American Statistical A sociation at its concluding session in St. Louis last Friday. But no one was startled.

of purchasing toys for poor children on Christmas. He had a list of 555 children of whom 284 were girls and 271 big job, but editor Darnell had previously proven that he enjoys big jobs and the people of Key West trusted him to make a success of this Christmas distri bution, and as usual they were not disap-

"A careful perusal of the newspapers with what report there comes from other sources congents in conclusion that the race for the United States Sena-torship will be between Stockton and Blount. Mr. Stockton's race has rechild's ability to learn from books. A child with hot hatred in his heart, or a child in a rage, or one filled with fear of punishment in case of failure, has not a fair chance either in book lessons or life lessons.

Hark back into the years, O you father and much punishment in the grant punishment in the first primary, though in reason it is to be expected that Mr. Blount will be. Mr. Bryan's candidacy began with a flourish and has fallen very flat. There has been liftle or no that dark moment of your babyhood—yes, or when you were half grown—that tragic, hateful, horrible moment when you hissed out into the darkness, "I wish I were dead, dead, dead!" Re member and save your little ones.

Takes on Mr. Stockton and Mr. Blount.
Mr. Stockton and Mr. B a faithful spokesman for the people, a staunch representative of their rights and a fearless foe of public evils. It is the firm belief of many, and this many includes the older men and politicians in Florida, that John N. C. Stockton is by reason of his long study of public affairs, his long acquaintance with con-ditions in Florida, his punctilious ideas of conduct in official position, better deputified than any man in the race for the position of Senator, and regardless of faction and former affiliations they ave determined to cast their votes for Ocala is a "wet" town. During the recent statewide prohibition campaign "dry" speakers twitted the city with having but one bank, while "dry" cities of its class in the state had from two to four. Ocala has waked up. A new Citizen bank bas been organized with Dr. Booser as president. The doctor isn't that, but the name is significant.

I got up from my knees a new man— "a new creature in Christ Jesus." I had been born again." It is not a cant phrase. There are no other words so accurately to describe the change which had occurred within me—no other words to describe the completeness of it, the newness of the life into which I had come, a child in righteous ways. I was regenerate: I had been "born again." I was sober; and from that moment I have never wanted alcohol.—

Rabid.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the course of an address to young men on New Years eve, warned them against making resolutions they were not likely to keep. Rash resolutions"-Mr. Rockefeller smiled.

"I was about to say that men who act rashly are ridiculed," said Mr. Rocke-feller, "but, remembering the Tallahassee representative, I must admit that there are exceptions.

"A bill was once introduced in the Tallahassee Legislature providing for the prompt slaughter of rabid dogs. At the mere mention of the title of this bill an old gentleman, a representative from one of the interior counties, arose, and with great earnestness said:

"Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to that bill. I've got a rabbit dog myself. He ain't much for looks, but I tell you, when that dog gets on a hot trail in the brown-sedge, and a little later you hear his voice a-yelpin' in a high key and the later state in the brown-sedge. yelps gettin' fainter and fainter, 'till by-and by you can just hear 'em down in the holler, and you go there and see a little bench-legged yellow ruscal barkin' under a tree, jes' you get a long pole and meat is your'n for dinner."

"When this eloquent appeal for the rabbit-dog was concluded, other owners of rabbit-dogs rose in a body and con-gratulated the speaker warmly. The bill was killed by a large majority."
